FREEDOM RIDER JOAN TRUMPAUER MULHOLLAND

Together with the Eudora Public Library, we're honored to offer two events detailing an incredible story of white allyship during the American Civil Rights movement. Growing up in Arlington, VA, Joan Trumpauer Mulholland witnessed firsthand the ugly realities of segregation and racism.

Vowing to ally herself with anti-racists, Mulholland joined the Freedom Riders to fight against injustice. Mulholland's social justice activism eventually led her to death row in Mississippi's notorious Parchman Penitentiary.
